

THE PROTESTANT REFORMATION IN 100 DATES

Daniele Santarelli Domizia Weber

June 2017

9,50 euros

List: EXTRA SMALL

ISBN: 978-88-96209-30-1

pp. 120

Daniele Santarelli and Domizia Weber, historians of the early modern period, recount the Protestant Reformation in one hundred memorable dates, passionately outlining the events and the leading figures of the religious, political, and cultural upheaval that splintered Catholic Europe in the 16th century.

October 1517. A stubborn monk named Martin Luther makes an extraordinary gesture and publishes his Ninety-Five Thesis, where he denounces the abuse of indulgences. Over the next few years, his ideas, which question Catholic and papal hegemony, spread very rapidly, sparking off the repressive response of the Inquisition. Started in Germany, the Reformation was a momentous religious revolution whose consequences we still live with today.

100 key dates from history that everyone should know.

The year 2017 marks the 500th anniversary of Martin Luther's Protestant Reformation.